

Her 7-year-old was taken at the border as she sought asylum. Now she's suing to get him back.

By Eli Rosenberg

June 20, 2018

'The only thing I want is my son': This Guatemalan mother is suing the government

A Guatemalan woman who says her 7-year-old son was forcibly taken from her after the two of them crossed into the United States to seek asylum is suing the U.S. government, saying that the separation violated rights given to her by both the Constitution and international conventions.

Beata Mariana de...

Subscribe to read the full article