

North Dakota soybean farmers, caught in the trade war, watch the season run out on their crop

Kyle Swenson

The Washington Post, Oct 14, 2018

Snow was dusting out of the steel-colored sky as Monte Peterson stared out his home office window at the North Dakota land his family has worked since the 1950s.

“We’re having November weather in October,” the 60-year-old sighed.

The words were delivered in a no-nonsense deadpan, but a...

Subscribe to read the full article